Having reviewed the post event debrief I can confirm that no arrests were made as a direct result of the AFR Locate deployment during the 2018 Arms Fair. As such a response to questions 2 and 3 is not applicable.

I have amended our deployment register to reflect the above and apologise for any confusion our conversation may have caused.

There were 508 individuals on the watchlist for this event that were wanted for arrest, either on a warrant or on suspicion of criminal activity, a further 6 persons were included as they were involved in disorder at the previous event.

All watch list images were obtained from our custody database.

Hi [REDACTED]

It was great to finally meet you today to discuss South Wales' use of facial recognition. I really appreciate you making the journey down.

As discussed we would greatly appreciate more information on:

1. The purpose for which a person was arrested at the arms fair protest
2. Confirmation that the same person identified by the AFR Locate at the arms fair protest was the individual who was subsequently arrested at the event
3. Whether the individual was charged

And also

1. Information about the composition of the watch list for the protest including how many of those on the list were wanted for arrest both on a warrant and on suspicion of an offence, and how many were not; and of those who were not wanted for arrest, the reason for which they were on the watch list.
2. The origins of the photos on the database, e.g. how many were drawn from the custody image database, and the sources of any other images.

With many thanks again,

[REDACTED]
